Dear parents/carers,

Home-learning feedback

We would like to take this opportunity to thank you for all your support during this incredibly difficult time. The response to home-learning has been fantastic.

Feedback from our weekly calls has been very helpful, with lots of you sharing positive feedback with regards to the work being provided on seesaw. Thank you for this.

Supporting your children with home-learning

We understand that it is difficult to fit home-learning around your work schedules and to support your children with this. Please do contact staff via seesaw if support is needed to talk through lessons or concepts. Staff are on hand to pick up the phone and support you.

Because of the difficulties that home-learning can provide for parents and carers we made the decision to upload daily maths, English and topic activities. These activities can be completed as and when, throughout the day, to fit around your busy schedules. We decided against live lessons due to the age of the children and the difficulty the children may experience if they were asked to access these independently. This approach also provides parents and carers the flexibility to fit their child's learning around their own work schedules. Teachers are, however, providing pre-recorded lessons in some instances via loom.com.

In addition to the work provided via seesaw, the BBC are providing daily lessons online <https://www.bbc.co.uk/teach/live-lessons>. You also have access to mathletics, tt rockstars and oxford owl online.

Again, we would like to thank you for all your support during this difficult time and look forward to welcoming your children back, hopefully, at some point in the near future.

With kind regards,

G German
